The Merman's Request.

After supper, the Captain was besieged by the children. Little Mary first mounted into his lap, and nestled quietly under his coat—Moses and Sally stood at each knee.

"Come now," said Moses, "you said you would tell us about merman to-night."

"Yes and the mermaids," said Sally. "Tell them all you told me the other night in the trundle-bed," Sally valued herself no little on the score of the Captain's talent as a romancer. "You see, Moses," said she, volubly, "father saw mermen and mermaids a-plenty of them in the West Indies."

"Oh, never mind about 'em now," said Captain Kittridge, looking at Mr. Sewell's corner.

"Why not, father? mother isn't there," said Sally innocently.

A smile passed through the faces of the company, and Mr. Sewell said, "Come Captain, no modesty; we all know you have as good a faculty for telling a story as for making a fire."

"Do tell me what mermen are," said said Moses.

"Wal," said the captain, sinking his voice confidentially, and hitching his chair a little around, "mermen and maids is o' people that have their world just like our'n, only it's down in the bottom of the sea; 'cause the bottom of the sea has its mountains and its valleys, and it's trees and its bushes, and it stands to reason there should be people there too." Moses opened his broad black eyes wider than usual, and looked with absorbed attention.

"Tell 'em about how you saw 'em," said Sally.

"Wal, yes," said Captain Kittredge, "once when I was to the Bahamas—it was one Sunday morning in June, the first Sunday in the month—we cast anchor pretty nigh a reef of coral, and I was jist a-sittin' down to read my Bible, when up comes a merman over the side of the ship, all dressed as fine as any old beax that ever ye see, with cocked hat and silk stockings, and shoe buckles, and his clothes was sea-green, and his shoe buckles shone like diamonds."

"Do you suppose they were diamonds, really?" said Sally.

"Wal, child, I didn't ask him, but I shouldn't be surprised, from all I know of their ways, if they was," said the Captain, who had now got so wholly into the spirit of the fiction that he no longer felt embarrassed by the minister's presence, nor saw the look of amusement with which he was listening to him in his chimney corner. "But, as I was sayin', he came up to me and made the politest bow that ever ye see, and says he, 'Cap'n Kittridge, I presume,' and says I, 'Yes, sir. I'm sorry to interrupt your reading,' says he; and says I, 'O, no matter, sir. But,' says he, 'if you would only be so good as to move your anchor. You've cast your anchor right before my front door, and my wife and family can't get out to get to meetin'.

"Why, do they go to meeting in the bottom of the sea?" said Moses.

"Lor' bless you, sonny, yes. Why, Sunday morning, when the sea was still, I used to hear the dissevil a scundin' down under the waters, just as plain as could be—and psalms and preachin'. I have reason to think there's as many hopefully pious mermaids as there be folks," said the Captain.

"But," said Moses, "you said the anchor was before the front door, so the family couldn't get out—how did the merman get out?"

"Oh! he got out of the scuttle in the roof," said the Captian, promptly.

"And did you move your anchor?" said Moses.

"Why, child to be sure I did; he was such a gentleman, I wanted to oblige him—it shows how important it is always to be polite," said the Captain, by way of giving a moral turn to his narrative.—Pearl of Orr's Island, by Mrs. H. B. Stowe.

SWEARING FOR A FAMILY.—During one of our examinations of candidates for baptism at Ngu-kang, I observed that one woman and some three or four young people had the same surname. This circumstance led to the following conversation between myself and one of the young men:—

"I observe you all have the same surname. Are you members of the same family?" I inquired.

"Yes," one replied, "this is mother, and these are my brothers."

"Where is your father?" I continued.

"He is at home attending to business."

"Does he approve of your embracing Christianity?"

"Yes, he is entirely willing."

"Why does not your father himself become a Christian?"

"He said it would not do for all the family to embrace Christianity."

"And why," I asked with some curiosity, "does he think so?"

"He says that if we all become Christians our heathen neighbors will take advantage of this circumstance to impose on us."

"How will they do that?"

"Christians are not allowed to swear or fight; and father says that when our wicked neighbors ascertain we have embraced Christianity, they will proceed at once to curse and maltreat us. Hence father says to us: 'You may all become Christians, but I must remain a heathen so as to retaliate on our bad neighbors. You can go to meeting and worship, but I must stay at home to do the cursing and fighting for the family.'"

COL. BAKER'S SPEECH.—The correspondent of Forney's Press thus speaks of Senator Breckinridge's speech and Col. Baker's reply:

"Mr. Breckenridge had just favored the Senate, in his cool, polished, haughty, and even contemptuous way, with one of his peculiar speeches about trampling upon the Constitution, military despotism, Presidential tyranny etc. The Senator was very exultant, and spoke to the Senate as if it were under lasting obligations to him for telling it of its crimes. Mr. Baker's reply was great, and produced a wonderful effect in the Senate. Impromptu from the very necessity of the case, it had all the finish of an essay. The Senator had a very fine prescience; his style is flowing, and exceedingly pleasing; his voice was well modulated, and his sentences chaste, compact, fervid and filled with argument and illustration. His argument was crushing, and his illustrations apt. Senator Breckenridge's reply was very lame, and he seemed to forget his generally impassable and complacent bearing as he winced under the well-told truths of the Senator from Oregon."

TO OSWALD TRAVAILLIET, Defendant: You are hereby notified that A. M. A. Blanchet has this day filed in my office his bill of complaint, and commenced a suit against you in which he claims that on the tenth day of June, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, you made and delivered to him a certain promissory note for the sum of six hundred dollars, payable ten months after date, with interest at the rate of two per cent. per month, and at the same time made, acknowledged and delivered to plaintiff a mortgage deed upon lots numbered three and four in Block number three in Couch's claim or addition to the City of Portland, in the county aforesaid, as security for the payment of said note; and complainant prays for a decree of foreclosure and for the sale of the said mortgaged premises to pay the amount due upon said mortgage, to-wit: The sum of six hundred dollars and interest as aforesaid since the twentieth day of September, A. SATURDAY MORNING, AUG. 1861

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN will be published [illegible] morning.

It will contain the latest telegraphic news from the East and California, a selection of the best [illegible] appearing in the Daily Oregonian, and the most complete and reliable publication published by any paper in the State.

The average amount of reading matter in the Weekly Oregonian is greater than that published in any other paper in Oregon and in the particular of Commercial Statistics we aim to make it the most reliable, more especially in regard to that which pertains to Oregon interests.

It will be mailed to order for 12½ cents per copy, or $3 per annum, to any part of the United States or British Colonies.

HENRY L. PITTOCK

The following conversation occurred in our sanctum between two of our citizens. We kept quiet,—but took notes,—and our readers can have the benefit.

1st Citizen—We hear terrible news from the East.

2nd Citizen—Yes, our Government is on trial. It is now a question whether the country is to be governed by ballots or bullets.

1st Cit—I am in favor of the Union and I want the trouble compromised, giving every section its just deserts.

2nd Cit.—I am in favor of giving every section its constitutional rights also, and the first great primal right of any people is to be governed by its own chosen rulers. Mr. Lincoln was elected President in the same mode and manner that other Presidents have been, and over the same territory Florida as well as Maine, and he holds his office by the like tenure you hold your farm—and I see no ground for compromise. Davis says—Lincoln, though you have been legally elected you shall not be President.

1st. Cit.—Yes but I am in favor of the Crittenden Compromise.

2nd. Cit.—That may be true—but Jeff Davis and his supporters are not—never expressed themselves in favor of it—never voted in favor of it—and Mr Crittenden denounced them in bitter terms for not accepting it. But I wish to know if every time a party is thwarted in their desires, even if they are just, we are to have an appeal to arms.

1st Cit.—O, no. I am opposed to war. I have been opposed to it—was opposed to it that is why I opposed the Administration.

2nd Cit.—Mr Lincoln took a solemn oath did he not—to support the Constitution. As the Executive, he had command of the army and navy and public property—he was the agent of the people, were the forts, arsenals and material of war. Had he a right to give them up to England, to France or to any body of our own citizens who might demand them without the least color of law.

1st Cit.—Not to England or France, of course, but you know the South claim the right to secede and have claimed it for a long time.

2nd Cit.—I see no difference between giving up the public property to one enemy or another. Mr. Lincoln certainly had taken a solemn oath to keep and protect what the American people had entrusted to him. But suppose he had been the cowardly poltroon you seem to desire the President of the United States to be, and had not called out the 75,000 men, what do you suppose would have been the result?

1st Cit.—I don't know.

2nd Cit.—What do you think Virginia would have done.

1st Cit.—O, she would have seceded of course.

2nd Cit.—What would Maryland have done.

1st Cit.—Well, I think she would have seceded, too, if it had not been for the Federal troops. I think she is in favor of secession now.

2nd Cit.—Do you think Virginia and Maryland would have thought Washington the most appropriate place in the world for the [illegible]

[illegible] Virginia and Maryland gave the Capital up to the Government meant to teach, might have known that there [illegible] right for a time but would not [illegible] to let the Capital [illegible] allow it to be taken up.

1st Cit.—But the first [illegible] would only throw the capital [illegible] for the struggle. Davis would have [illegible] Richmond—would by compact [illegible] Virginia and Maryland, and his troops would have been now in the Hall. You see you object to [illegible] anything. Suppose he had [illegible] door, and sat on his chair and let Davis do his own way. When Jeff wanted him to leave Washington—why he left. When Jeff wanted him to give up the mint it was—why, give them up. When Jeff wished him to leave the Union men of the South to their fate—leave them. When asked the reason for this policy of his—his answer would have been I want to save the effusion of blood—but I doubt whether I had the Constitutional right to oppose Jeff—Jeff himself said I had not the power—and the Oregon Territorial said I had not the power—and Gen. Harney, who whipped out a few Indians in Oregon at an expense of several millions, said it would be a loss of money. Would you blame President of the United States dealing with him in this way.

1st Cit.—I am in favor of compromise.

2nd Cit.—Is Jeff Davis in favor of it too?

1st Cit.—Lincoln is an abolitionist.

2nd Cit.—Jeff is the abolitionist and if he keeps on will do more to abolish slavery than all the Garrisons in the world.

1st Cit.—I don't care, I am in favor of compromise.

2nd Cit.—I am in favor of compromise too—by hanging Jeff Davis and his whole crew.

Speech of Mr. Doolittle in Reply to Mr. Breckinridge

In Senate August 1st, 1861 the bill to suppress Insurrection and Sedition [illegible] under consideration, Mr. Doolittle spoke as follows in reply to Mr Breckinridge:

Mr President, in the first [illegible] of this debate, there are one or two points that [illegible] from Kentucky (seems to forget what [illegible] seek of the delegated powers of this Government under the Constitution that all of the powers which is delegated is that we shall guarantee to every State of this Union a republican form of government but when South Carolina seeks to set up a military despotism the constitutional power with which we are clothed and the duty which is enjoined upon us is to guarantee to South Carolina a republican form of government. There is another point that seems to be sought [illegible] the talk about subjugating and [illegible] my friends on this side of the chamber will not also keep sight of it in the [illegible] debate. I understand to say that it is no purpose of this war, or this Administration to subjugate any State of the Union. The people of any State of the United States [illegible] as I see the object of this war is to enable the loyal people of the several States of this Union to reconstruct themselves upon the Constitution of the United States. Virginia has left the loyal people in her [illegible] capacity by the assembled loyal people of that State not even in [illegible] itself upon the Constitution of the United States and they have taken into their own hands the Government of that State. Virginia has her Judges, her Marshals, her [illegible] officers and the Courts of Virginia and to the marshals and executive officers of the United States we can intrust the [illegible] laws the moment that the State Government shall have ceased in the eastern or any other portion of the State. It is not, therefore, the purpose of this Government to subjugate the people of Virginia or of any other State, and subject them to the control of our armies. It is simply that we will rally to the support of the loyal people of Virginia and of Tennessee and of North Carolina and Alabama, and of the Gulf States [illegible] when they are prepared for it; we will rally to the support of those States and enable them to take their Government into their own hands by wresting it out of the hands of those military usurpers who now hold it, for they are nothing more and nothing less. That is all that is involved in this contest, and I hope on this side of the chamber we shall never again hear one of our friends talking about subjugating either a State or the people of any State of this Union, but that we shall go on aiding them to do just precisely what the loyal people of Virginia are doing, what the loyal people of Tennessee are preparing to do, what the loyal people of North Carolina stand ready to do, and what the loyal people of Georgia and Alabama, and Louisiana, and last perhaps of all, the loyal people of South Carolina will do in constructing themselves upon the Constitution of the United States. Mr President, I have heard the Senator from Kentucky to-day, and I have heard it again and again denounced the President of the United States for the usurpation of Constitutional power [illegible]

STREET PAVING.—The Union Guards, Capt. Corbett commanding, had their first street drill on Thursday night last. Military men who witness their evolutions assert that they acquitted themselves creditably.

IN THE RIVER.—The bark Jane A. Falkinburg, from San Francisco, is in the port.

POSTPONEMENT.—We are requested by Rev. A. F. Edmunds to announce that he will not be here to preach on Sunday, before going to his appointments, but will preach one week from to-morrow. He is detained at the Dalles, to attend the funeral of Chief Wilbot.

Arrival of the Carrie

From the Upper Columbia by the Carrie last evening, we have the following items:

The steamer Okanogan broke her cam frames at the foot of John Day's rapids night before last, and ran down to Deschutes with one engine.

Robert Connelly, a native of Ireland and late of Oregon City, died at Whitman's crossing of the Walla Walla river, on the 27th, of consumption. He left Oro Fino on his way to the Willamette, and was taken very ill at Dry Creek, and a carriage was sent for him. He died in the carriage on the way. M. Vansyckle took charge of his effects and superintended his burial. He was aged about 40 years, and has relatives in Oregon City. Religious services were by a Catholic clergyman.

New and favorable prospects are being discovered on the South fork.

The Indians are all peaceable, and nothing was heard of war beyond Walla Walla.

The Carrie Ladd brought down $27,000 in the hands of Tracey & Co., and $8,000 in the hands of passengers.

Emigrant wagons had arrived at the Umatilla river.

News Items.

The members of Congress have been paid their last month's salary with $90 in gold and $60 in two years six per cent. Treasury notes. The employes of the other departments of the Government are hereafter to be paid in the same description of paper.

Robert McGraw, brother of Henry McGraw, who accompanied Arnold Harris in the expedition to rescue the body of Colonel Cameron, subsequently received intelligence from his brother through Baltimore. McGraw and Harris are comfortably cared for at Richmond. McGraw has been assigned prison quarters in a tobacco warehouse. The rebel leaders propose to exchange Harris and McGraw for two of the officers of the piratical vessel captured by our fleet. This is the simplicity of impudence. Harris and McGraw were taken prisoners while proceeding upon a mission of mercy under a flag of truce, and the pirates were captured in actual hostility, not recognized as legitimate by any Christian people.

They would man six steam corvettes, one fifty gun sailing frigate and five steam gunboats; but it is probable that the greater portion of them will be taken to complete the efficient manning of men-of-war now in commission, the crews of whose crews is gradually expiring. Of course nine-tenths of the navy blue-jackets will return, when the liberty elephant stamps on the money bag, as Jack expressed it.

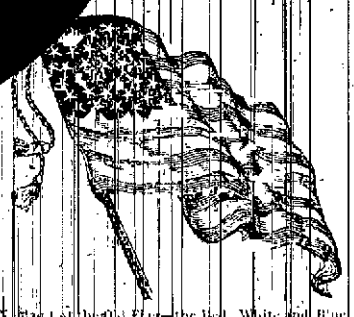
...PAPER OF THE DAY.



Flag of the U.S.—the Red, White and Blue
With the stars of Union united in a field true,
Red—and a kind heart—sake of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner our salvation to save.

SATURDAY MORNING, AUG. 31, 1861.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN will be issued this morning.

It will contain the latest telegraphic news from the East and California, a selection of the best articles appearing in the Daily Oregonian, and the most complete General information published by any paper in the State.

The average amount of reading matter in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is greater than that published by any other paper in Oregon; and in the particular of Commercial Statistics, seems to make it the most reliable, more especially in regard to that which pertains to Oregon interests.

It will be mailed to order for 12½ cents per copy, or $3 per annum, to any part of the United States or British Columbia.

HENRY L. PITTOCK.

The following conversation occurred in our sanctum between two of our citizens. We kept quiet,—but took notes,—and our readers can have the benefit:—

1st Citizen.—We hear terrible news from the East.

2nd Citizen.—Yes, our Government is on trial. It is now a question whether the country is to be governed by ballots or bullets.

1st Cit.—I am in favor of the Union, and I want the trouble compromised, giving every section its just deserts.

2nd Cit.—I am in favor of giving every section its constitutional rights also, and the first great primal right of any people is to be governed by its own chosen rulers. Mr. Lincoln was elected President in the same mode and manner that other Presidents have been, and over the same territory. Florida as well as Maine, and besides his office for the like term are you hold your farm—and see no ground for compromise. Davis say—Lincoln, though you have been legally elected, you shall not be President.

1st Cit.—Yes, but I am in favor of the Crittenden Compromise.

2nd Cit.—That may be true—but Jeff. Davis and his supporters are not—never expressed themselves in favor of it—never voted in favor of it—and Mr. Crittenden denounced them in bitter terms for not accepting it. But I wish to know if every time a party is thwarted in their desires, even if they are just, we are to have an appeal to arms.

1st Cit.—O, no. I am opposed to war, have been opposed to it, and opposed to it that is why I opposed the Administration.

2nd Cit.—Mr. Lincoln took a solemn oath, did he not—to support the Constitution. As the Executive, he had command of the army, navy and public property—his, as the agent of the people, were the forts, arsenals and material of war. Had he right to give them up to England, to France or to any body of our own citizens who might demand them without the least color of law.

1st Cit.—Not to England or France, of course, but you know the South claim the right to secede, and have Maine, it for a long time.

2nd Cit.—I see no difference between giving up the public property to one enemy or another. Mr. Lincoln certainly had taken a solemn oath to keep and protect what the American people had entrusted to him. But suppose he had been the cowardly poltroon you seem to desire the President of the United States to be, and had not called out the 75,000 men, what do you suppose would have been the result?

1st Cit.—I don't know.

2nd Cit.—What do you think Virginia would have done.

1st Cit.—O, she would have seceded of course.

2nd Cit.—What would Maryland have done.

1st Cit.—Well, I think she would have seceded, too, if it had not been for the Federal troops. I think she is in favor of secession now.

2nd Cit.—Do you think Virginia and Maryland would have thought Washington the most appropriate place in the world for the Capital of a nation should not have a real make [illegible] miles to the Capital.

1st Cit.—Well, Virginia and Maryland gave the Capital, [illegible] the Government and the people have claimed that they had a right to secede, but I will not dispute [illegible] to push the [illegible] to Secession call [illegible] to invade [illegible] Virginia and Maryland [illegible] for the second day have would have been [illegible] capital—would have conquered the [illegible] of Virginia and of Maryland, and [illegible] probably would have been [illegible] Union. You seem opposed to [illegible] anything. Suppose [illegible] Davis [illegible] and Sutton [illegible] Jeff. [illegible] had his own way. When Jeff. wanted him to leave Washington—why, he left. When Jeff. wanted him to give up the [illegible] archives—Stop, [illegible] Jeff. wished him to leave the Union men of the South to their fate—leave them. And when asked the reason for all this [illegible] ery—his answer would have been: I wanted to save the effusion of blood—[illegible] I doubt whether I had the Constitutional right to oppose Jeff—Jeff. thinks I said I had not the power—and the Oregon Statesman said I had not the power—and Geo. J. Curry [illegible] whipped out a few Indians in Oregon, at an expense of several millions, said it would cost lots of money. Would you destroy Property of the United States to save lives in this way.

1st Cit.—I am in favor of compromise.

2nd Cit.—Is Jeff. Davis in favor of it, too.

1st Cit.—Lincoln is an abolitionist.

2nd Cit.—Jeff. is the abolitionist, and if he keeps on will do more to abolish slavery than all the Garrisons in the world.

1st Cit.—I don't care. I am in favor of compromise.

2nd Cit.—I am in favor of compromising—but hanging Jeff. Davis and his whole crew.

Speech of Mr. Doolittle in Reply to Mr. Breckinridge.

In Senate August 1st, 1861, the bill to suppress Insurrection and Sedition being under consideration, Mr. Doolittle spoke as follows in reply to Mr. Breckinridge:

Mr. President, in the heat and excitement of this debate, there are one or two ideas that ought never to be lost sight of. The Senator from Kentucky seems to forget, while he speaks of the delegated powers of this Government under the Constitution, that one of the powers which is delegated is that we shall guarantee to every State of this Union republican form of government; but when South Carolina seeks to set up military despotism, the constitutional power with which we are clothed and the duty which is imposed upon us is to guarantee to South Carolina a republican form of government. There is another idea that seems to be lost sight of in the talk about subjugation, and I hope that my friends on this side of the chamber will not also lose sight of it in the excitement of the debate. I undertake to say that it is not the purpose of this or any other Administration to subjugate any State of the Union or the people of any State of the Union. What is the policy? It is, as I said the other day, to enable the loyal people of the several States of this Union to reconstruct themselves upon the Constitution of the United States. Virginia has led the way; Virginia, in her sovereign capacity, by the assembled loyal people of that State in Convention, has reconstructed herself upon the Constitution of the United States, and they have taken into their own hands the Government of that State. Virginia has her Judges, her Marshals, her south officers; and to the Courts of Virginia and to the marshals and executive officers of Virginia we can intrust the enforcement of the laws the moment that the state of civil war shall have ceased in the eastern or any other portion of the State. It is not, therefore, the purpose of this Government to subjugate the people of Virginia, or of any other State, and subject them to the control of our armies. It is simply that we will rally to the support of the loyal people of Virginia and of Tennessee, and of North Carolina, and of Texas, and of the Gulf States, too, when they are prepared for it; we will rally to the support of those States and enable them to take their Government into their own hands by wresting it out of the hands of those military usurpers who now hold it, for they are nothing more and nothing less. That is all that is involved in this contest; and I hope on this side of the chamber we shall never again hear one of our friends talking about subjugating either a State or the people of any State of this Union, but that we shall go on aiding them to do just precisely what the loyal people of Virginia are doing, what the loyal people of Tennessee are preparing to do, what the loyal people of North Carolina stand ready to do, and what the loyal people of Georgia and Alabama and Louisiana, and last perhaps of all, the loyal people of South Carolina will do in constructing themselves upon the Constitution of the United States. Mr. President, I have heard the Senator from Kentucky to-day, and I have heard it again and again denounced the President of the United States for the usurpation of Constitutional power. I [illegible] out any foundation, [illegible] organization of Con[illegible] be in a more fav[illegible] circumstances and [illegible] the other day, [illegible] by him to ans[illegible] that, as there are [illegible] ups in arms against [illegible] within thirty [illegible] miles of the [illegible] Congress, [illegible] I am [illegible] ask other [illegible] to vote for [illegible] bill as [illegible] Congress [illegible] Kentucky [illegible] Senator [illegible] Kentucky [illegible] Senator [illegible] Kentucky [illegible] Senator

Arrival of the Carrie

From the Upper Columbia by the Carrie last evening, we have the following items.

The steamer Okanagan took her cargo frames at the foot of John Day's rapids night before last, and ran down to Deschutes with one engine.

Robert Connelly, a native of Ireland and late of Oregon City died at Whitmans cross ing of the Walla Walla river, on the 27th, of consumption. He left Oro Fino on his way to the Willamette, and was taken very ill at Dry Creek, and a carriage was sent for him.
He died in the carriage on the way. Mr.
Vanscyckle took charge of his effects and superintended his burial. He was aged about 40 years, and has relatives in Oregon City.
Religious services were by a Catholic clergyman.

New and favorable prospects have been discovered on the South fork.

The Indians are all peaceable and nothing was heard of war beyond Walla Walla.

The Carrie Ladd brought down $27,000 in the hands of Tracey & Co., and $8,000 in the hands of passengers.

40 emigrant wagons had arrived at the Umatilla river.

News Items

The members of Congress have been paid their last month's salary with $30 in gold and $70 in two years six per cent. Treasury notes. The employes of the other departments of the Government are hereafter to be paid in the same description of paper.

Robert McGraw, brother of Henry McGraw, who accompanied Arnold Harris on the expedition to recover the body of Colonel Cameron subsequently received intelligence from his brother, through Baltimore. McGraw and Harris are comfortably cared for at Richmond. McGraw has been assigned prison quarters in a tobacco warehouse. The rebel leaders propose to exchange Harris and Mc-Graw for two of the officers of the piratical vessel captured by our fleet. This is the simplicity of impudence. Harris and McGraw were taken prisoners while proceeding upon a mission of mercy under a flag of truce, and the pirates were captured in actual hostility not recognized as legitimate by any Christian people.

The following is a rough estimate of the number of blue jackets ready for sea duty at an hour's notice.

	Men.
Receiving ship North Carolina at New York	1,200
Receiving ship Ohio at Boston	1,000
Receiving ship Pennsylvania at Philadelphia	450
Receiving ship Allegheny at Annapolis	150
Estimate of available men at Portsmouth, N. H.	200
Total	3,000

They would man six steam corvettes, one fifty gun sailing frigate, and five steam gun boats, but it is probable that the greater portion of them will be taken to complete the re-fitment manning of men of war now in commission, the term of whose crews is gradually expiring. Of course, nine tenths of the released sailors will return, when their "dirty elephant stumps on the money bag," as Jack expressed it.

of DR. L. J. CZAPKAY is already secured in a position which places it as well as its proprietor far above the ordi-in that department of medical science and they are upheld with other equally lofty pearls in the profession. Dr. L.

J. Czapkay's example, a shining light among the holo-graphical stars of his age in Europe and Dr. Czapkay has fully verified him in this country—as a proof of which the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a Diploma and the honorary membership. Selecting this as his field of operation although qualified as a graduate of the University of Pesth and late Staff Surgeon of the Hungarian Royal Hungarian army for more extensive fields, Dr.
L. J. Czapkay has bent his earnest attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases in which he has become so great an expert that he is now regarded as the LEADER in this branch of the profession throughout the United States, and the public and the faculty are paying as much attention on

NEWSPAPER ARCHIVE®

NEWSPAPER ARCHIVE®

Mr. Lincoln was elected President in the same mode and manner that other Presidents have been, and over the same territory, Florida as well as Maine, and he holds his office by the like tenure you hold your farm—and I see no ground for compromise. Davis says—Lincoln, though you have been legally elected, you shall not be President

1st Cit.—Yes, but I am in favor of the Crittenden Compromise

2nd Cit.—That may be true—but Jeff Davis and his supporters are not—never expressed themselves in favor of it—never voted in favor of it, and Mr. Crittenden denounced them in bitter terms for not doing it. But I wish to know if every time a party is thwarted in their desires, even if they are just, we are to have an appeal to arms

1st Cit.—O, no I am opposed to war have been opposed to it—and opposed to it that is why I opposed the Administration

2nd Cit.—Mr Lincoln took a solemn oath did he not—to support the Constitution As the Executive, he had command of the army, navy and public property—he, as the agent of the people, were the forts arsenals and material of war. Had he a right to give them up to England, to France or to any body of our own citizens who might demand them without the least color of law

1st Cit.—Not to England or France of course, but you know the South claim the right to secede, and have claimed it for a long time

2nd Cit.—I see no difference between giving up the public property to one enemy or another. Mr Lincoln certainly had taken a solemn oath to keep and protect what the American people had entrusted to him But suppose he had been the cowardly poltroon you seem to desire the President of the United States to be, and had not called out the 75,000 men, what do you suppose would have been the result?

1st Cit.—I don't know

2nd Cit.—What do you think Virginia would have done.

1st Cit.—O, she would have seceded of course.

2nd Cit.—What would Maryland have done

1st Cit.—Well, I think she would have seceded, too, if it had not been for the Federal troops. I think she is in favor of secession now.

2nd Cit.—Do you think Virginia and Maryland would have thought Washington the most appropriate place in the world for the under consideration. Mr Doolittle spoke as follows in reply to Mr Breckinridge:

Mr President, in the heat and excitement of this debate, there are one or two facts that ought never to be lost sight of. The Senator from Kentucky seems to forget, while he speaks of the delegated powers of the Government under the Constitution, that one of the powers which is delegated is that we shall guarantee to every State of this Union a republican form of government. But when South Carolina seeks to secede from this republican form of government and destroy the constitutional power with which we are clothed and the duty which is enjoined upon us, is to guarantee to South Carolina a republican form of government. There is another idea that seems to have lost sight of in the talk of secession and I hope that the true friends on this side of the Chamber will not also lose sight of it in the excitement of the debate. I undertake to say that not the least purpose of this war on the part of this Administration is to subjugate any State of this Union or the people of any State of the Union. What is the policy? It has said time and again, to enable the loyal people of the several States of this Union to reconstruct themselves upon the Constitution of the United States. Virginia has left the way. Virginia in her sovereign capacity, by the assembled loyal people of that State in Convention has organized herself upon the Constitution of the United States, and they have taken into their hands the Government of that State. Virginia has her Judges, her Marshals, her political officers; and to the Courts of Virginia and to the marshals and executive officers of Virginia we can intrust the enforcement of the laws the moment that the state of civil war shall have ceased in the eastern or any other portion of the State. It is not therefore the purpose of this Government to subjugate the people of Virginia, or of any other State, and subject them to the control of arms. It is simply that we will rally to the support of the loyal people of Virginia and of North Carolina and of Tennessee and of Alabama and of the Gulf states too when they are prepared for it, we will rally to the support of those States and enable them to take their Government into their own hands by wresting it out of the hands of those military usurpers who now hold it, for they are nothing more nor less. That is all that is involved in this contest, and I hope on this side of the Chamber we shall never again hear one of our friends talking about subjugating either a State or the people of any State of this Union, but that we shall go on aiding them to do just precisely what the loyal people of Virginia are doing, what the loyal people of Tennessee are preparing to do, what the loyal people of North Carolina stand ready to do, and what the loyal people of Georgia and Alabama and Louisiana, and last perhaps of all, the loyal people of South Carolina will do in constructing themselves upon the Constitution of the United States. Mr President, I have heard the Senator from Kentucky today, and I have heard it again and again, denounced the President of the United States for the usurpation of Constitutional power. I lucky in enough in the measure but because in that time has been subject to be considered, and wisdom rules may be necessary to be adopted in those districts where the civil war is to be carried on can be judged at that time. In the meantime it is true that where martial law shall exist of necessity there will depend upon the Commander-in-Chief.

The Oregon Herald republishes the following sensational news from a Richmond Secessionist, which appears upon the surface to be a hoax. Jonathan Harris and Mary Baltimore the Lincoln will find him elf in the South and West Western Virginia will [illegible] Maryland—they assassinate Lincoln—then Virginia will [illegible] Maryland will [illegible] Lincoln will [illegible] Maryland will [illegible] Lincoln will [illegible] Maryland will [illegible] Lincoln

STREET DRILL.—The Union Guards, Capt. Corbett, commanding had their first street drill on Thursday night last. Multitudes who witnessed their evolutions assert that they acquitted themselves creditably.

IN THE RIVER.—The bark Jane A. Falkinburg from San Francisco for this port.

POSTPONEMENT.—We are requested by Rev. A. C. Edmunds to announce that he will not be here to preach on Sunday, according to appointment, but will preach on the week from to-morrow. He is detained at the Dalles to attend the funeral of Chas. Elliott.

Arrival of the Carrie

From the Upper Columbia, by the Carrie last evening, we have the following items:

The steamer Okanagan broke her chain fasten at the foot of John Dry's rapids night before last, and ran down to Deschutes with one engine.

Robert Connelly, a native of Ireland, and late of Oregon City, died at Whitman's mission of the Walla Walla river, on the 27th, of consumption. He left Oro Fino on his way to the Willamette, and was taken very ill at Dry Creek, and a carriage was sent for him. He died in the carriage on the way. Mr. Vanvackle took charge of his effects and superintended his burial. He was aged about 40 years, and his relatives in Oregon City. Religious services were by a Catholic clergyman.

New and favorable prospects have been discovered on the South fork.

The Indians are all peaceable, and nothing was heard of war beyond Walla Walla.

The Carrie Ladd brought down $27,000 in the hands of Tracey & Co., and $8,000 in the hands of passengers.

40 emigrant wagons had arrived at the Umatilla river.

News Items.

The members of Congress have been paid their last month's salary with $50 in gold and $50 in two years six per cent. Treasury notes. The employés of the other departments of the Government are hereafter to be paid in the same description of paper.

Robert McGraw, brother of Henry McGraw, who accompanied Arnold Harris in the expedition to recover the body of Colonel Cameron, subsequently received intelligence from his brother, through Baltimore. McGraw and Harris are comfortably cared for at Richmond. McGraw has been assigned prison quarters in a tobacco warehouse. The rebel authorities propose to exchange Harris and McGraw for two of the officers of the privateer Jeff. Davis, recently captured. This is the simplicity of impudence. Harris and McGraw were taken prisoners while proceeding upon a mission of mercy under a flag of truce, and the latter were captured in actual hostility, not recognized as legitimate by any Christian people.

The following is a rough estimate of the number of blue jackets ready for sea duty at the latest advices:

	Men.
Receiving ship North Carolina at New York	1200
Receiving ship Ohio, at Boston	1000
Receiving ship Princeton, at Philadelphia	400
Receiving ship Allegheny, at Annapolis	150
Receiving ship Wabash men at Portsmouth, N. H.	200
Total	2950

They would man six steam corvettes, one fifty gun sailing frigate, and five steam gun boats; but it is probable that the greater portion of these will be taken to complete the efficient crowing of men-of-war now in commission, the term of whose crews is gradually expiring. Of course, nine tenths of the received calls will return, when the "city element stands on the money bag," as Jack expressed it.

MARRIED:

At the residence of Thomas Stevens, Esq., Aug. 30, 1861, by S. E. Barr, Esq., Mr. J. R. Stevens of Multnomah county, to Miss A. Rodgers, late of Canada.

DIED:

In this city, Friday morning, August 30th, Henry Gracious, youngest son of Simon N. and Elizebeth Arrigoni, aged 18 months.

Funeral this day at 2 o'clock, from private residence on Taylor street.

DR. H. ADOLPHUS, San Francisco.

Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters.—A specific for liver complaint, dyspepsia, dysentery, general debility, chills and fever, liver complaint, bilious remittent fevers and the pain and weakness which creep upon us in old age. For these ailments we quietly invite a trial, and a verdict. The trial has come off, the verdict has been rendered, and the letters are to-day the most popular remedy for them that has been in existence for this or any other country. It has and continues to thrive and increase in popularity with marvelous rapidity, simply because the world knows it will leave it ruined to do without it. The demand is only limited by the victims of dumb ague or dysentery dotted over in it, and bilious sufferers should not let one bottle rest but before he has got another. Hobbs gives all ages, all classes, regard it as the most wonderful invigorant ever compounded. Hence its enormous demand.

Sold everywhere by Druggists, Liquor Dealers, and Grocers.

C. DICKINSON, Sec'y.

Agency Notice.—Mr. L. FISHER is our only authorized Agent in San Francisco to receive advertisements, and transact business for the Daily and Weekly OREGONIAN. Office—No. 171½ Washington street, nearly opposite Maguire's Opera House.

The Medical and Surgical Institute of DR. J. OZAPKAY is already secured in a position which places it, as well as its proprietor far above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France the highest prizes are awarded to practitioners in this department of medical science, and they occupy with others an equally lofty position in the profession. Record is an illustrious example, a shining light among the philosophical stars of the age in Europe, and Dr. Ozapkay has fully equalled him in this country as a proof of which the Philadelphia College of Medicine has presented him with a Diploma, and the honorary degree. Selecting this as his field of operation, although qualified as a graduate of the University of Perth, and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army, for a period extended labors, Dr. L. J. Czapkay has brought his earnest attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases, in which he has become so great an expert that he is now regarded as the leader in this branch of his profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography are published as matter of interest to their readers in the most exclusive journals. The Doctor's offices are at his Medical and Surgical Institute, on Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, nearly opposite the buildings of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco. We ask particular attention of our readers to the sworn certificates of remarkable cures in another column of this paper. Persons not willing to call at the Institute personally, please enclose $10 in their letters, and they will get immediate attention to their cases. Address, L. J. CZAPLAY, M. D., San Francisco, Cal. jy1e2dd1y

D., Late in the Hungarian Revolutionary War; then Physician to the 20th Regiment of Honved; Chief Surgeon to the Military Hospital of Pesth, Hungary; the best Specialist on Diseases of the Genito-Urinary Organs and Diseases of Women and Children, and Attorney Member of the Philadelphia College of Medicine.

☞ Communications strictly confidential. Permanent cures guaranteed, or no pay. Consultations, by letter or otherwise, FREE.

Address, DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco.

Of all diseases, the first great cause,
Saving from neither rich nor nature's laws.

To the Afflicted:

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret diseases—Seminal Weakness, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Strictures, Gleet, Gravel, Diabetes, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Hereditary Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes, Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers, Dropsy, Epilepsy or Fits, St. Vitus Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs, such as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dizziness of Vision, with peculiar Spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness, Dyspepsia, Liver Diseases, Eruptions upon the Face, Pains in the Face and Head, Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes. It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing or how severe the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians, and resisted all the means of cure. The medicines prescribed are pleasant, without odor, entirely vegetable, containing no mercury or poisonous drugs, and are free from mercury or any deleterious ingredient. During fifteen years of practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands, who, in the last stages of the aforementioned diseases, had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted, who may place themselves under my care, a speedy and permanent cure. Private diseases are the greatest curse to mankind, as they are the first cause of consumption, scrofula, and many other diseases, and should be a terror to the human family. A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected by any of those falling into the hands of incompetent persons, who not only fail to cure the disease, but ruin the constitution, filling the system with mercury, which, with the disease, hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption. But should the ill-advised, unskilful treatment not cause death speedily, and the victim survive, the disease is entailed upon the children, who are born with feeble constitutions, and the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula, ulcerations and other affections of the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering, and consigning them to an early grave.

Self-abuse is another formidable enemy to health, for nothing lies at the root of a greater number of human diseases or destroys a greater drain upon the system—drawing its thousands of victims through a few years of suffering down to an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system, rapidly wastes away the energies of life, causes mental derangement, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business, and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself. With the fullest confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of self-abuse, that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and with the abandonment of pernicious practices my patients can be restored to robust, vigorous health.

Irregularities, and all diseases of males and females, treated on principles established by fifteen years of practice and sanctioned by thousands of the most remarkable cures. Medicines, with full directions, sent to any part of the State, Oregon and Washington Territory, by patients communicating their symptoms by letter.

All business correspondence strictly confidential. Address DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, Medical Institute, Sacramento street, below Montgomery, opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Office, San Francisco.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief.

Below we publish the certificates of three of the sufferers from the effects of disease, who, having recovered their health upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my case, and of my inability to reward him for his services, of which, however, he at once undertook my case, and the blessing of God, I was once more restored to health. Unable to reward him for the boon which I possess, and yet conscious of my indebtedness, I feel it due to myself and all afflicted, to make the case known, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.
